80 Column Printer Tips

If using MSCRIPT or TAS WORD II these may be both fun and useful to you!!
First we will deal with MSCRIPT since this is what I am most use to.

Mscript allows for DIFFERENT SIZE PRINTS within the same line

Or if you prefer to make one line all the same size it is just as simple!

Here is the formula that you use.

>#1=142/1,#2=148/#3,#143/1,#4=146/1

There has to be an ENTER slash before the formula
> Has to be at the 1st character space on the left
#1=142/1 tells the computer to write big for one line
(if more than 40 characters you must use ths next line to continue)
#2=148/2 tells the computer to STOP writing big
#3=143/1 tells the computer to write samll
#4=146/1 tells the computer to STOP writing small

Control G (Caps shift & symbol shift & G) is used to control the print size.

Control G1=Large print or #1
Control G2=STOP Large print or #2
Control G3=Small print or #3
Control G4=STOP Small print or #4

The control G1 if not shut off before the end of one 40 character line, will shut itself off. But if you want only part of that line in Large print you mu use the control G2 to shut it off.

The control G3 starts the small print, but does NOT shut off until the contro G4 is used.

If you forget to shut off the small print and you try to print large or try t print anything afterwards everything will come out small. You will have to sh off the PRINTER then turn it back on. The printer values will be restored to normal print.

NOW for the TAS WORD II !

I honestly do not know that much about it, but for you Folks that already hav it I do know how to make the 1st line small or large.

1st you have put in your title
you then have to go to BASIC
you then POKE 33280,14 (Large Letters)
15 (Small letters)
Then GOTO 1
TURN OFF PRINTER then back ON
Then goto the Menu for Printing
Step thru he procedure for printing and Whala it is done!

TAS WORD II does have software available to print wide.

We sell MSCRIPT for $65.00
and TAS WORD II for $49.95

Most of the writing I do for this magazine concerns the more serious aspects of the use of T/S: Telecommunications, Business Programs, Utilities, etc. I feel that both T/S computers can do ANYTHING any IBM or Apple can do, and for a lot less investment.

But, I finally will come out of the closet. I LOVE GAMES!!! There...I said it...and I feel much better, thank you.

I love playing games as much as the next guy.. And thanks to a dealer, appropiately "GAMES TO LEARN BY", there are some fantastic ones available for the 2068, the T/S much better equipped for this genre of software.

With the H/R graphic and sound capabilities, I knew that games would be interesting programs on the 2068. But I had no idea that they would be THIS INTERESTING!!!

The first game I will tell you about is called DEATHCHASE. GAMES has exclusive distributorship of this program from Micromega in England. The 3-D graphics are nothing short of first-class, and the concept of the program is very intriguing. In fact, I played this game one afternoon for 3 hours straight!

Imagine you are sitting on a 26th Century motorcycle. You are in the forest, patroling for enemy cycles. Once you have them in range, you can fire deadly photon bolts to destroy them. Once you clear the sector, you are moved to night shift (some reward...midnights!).

You continue moving from day to night. The farthest I have been able to attain is 4 sectors out of 8. Don't worry, I'll keep trying!

DEATHCHASE rates a 10 in my book!

The other game I reviewed is one that should be very familiar to all of you...FROGGER. There has been a version done of this game for every computer from the IBM to the TRS-80 Pocket Computer. I guess that's because FROGGER is the best selling Video Game in the history of the buisness!

Again, GAMES has exclusive rights to the 2068 version, along with many other Timex titles, in the U.S. This version is the original version, by Sega and Cornsoft.

Compared to the other versions of FROGGER I have played, short of the actual Arcade version, I feel this version for the 2068 tops the list! Every nuance is there, from the crocidles and otters, to the music! The top score is kept, and each screen gets increasing harder.

Again, I heartily recommend FROGGER.

I want to assure you that games is NOT all you can buy at GAMES. All types of software and hardware (including the infamous Romswitch) is available, and they publish the "TS SURVIVORS" flyer occasionally. Contact them for your needs; they probably have what you want!

Higher levels introduce multiplication and division in a race against time. Your child can play NUMBER TUMBLERS alone, or against the computer, or with a friend. Any way it's played, NUMBER TUMBLERS is full of fun!

LOGIC LEVELS16.00-provides players with the opportunity to exercise logic and planning skills in exciting and challenging ways. These skills are essential in understanding how to use these relationships in reaching a planned outcome.
